The Westin Boston Waterfront Hotel, Boston's newest luxury hotel, opened on June 21. Boston's Mayor Thomas Menino has deemed this hotel "The start of the blossoming of the waterfront."

Designed by Arrowstreet, the 790-room hotel has posted record occupancy numbers for the hotel operator, Starwood Hotels & Resorts. According to developer Joseph Fallon, "It's the highest rate ever for a Starwood opening on any hotel they've ever opened, a huge milestone."

A sleek newcomer to the city's revitalized Seaport District, the Boston Westin Waterfront provides a dramatic backdrop to the adjacent Boston Convention and Exhibition Center (BCEC). Linked to the BCEC via a glass-enclosed skyway, the hotel offers 60,000 square feet of additional meeting space and a 40,000-square-foot ballroom.
